With the regular season completed, three teams find themselves in a tie for first place in the Warren County High School Trap League. Corry, Warren Blue and Youngsville will compete in a shoot-off during the league's annual field day competition next Tuesday at AMVETS Post 50 to determine this year's champion.

Week 7 wrapped up with Warren Blue, Eisenhower and Youngsville taking home wins.

Five shooters finished with 25s including Warren Blue's Jacob Fankhouser and Matt McDunn. The rest of Blue's lineup came in at 24 to cruise past Tidioute by a final score of 170-148. Mike Ziegler led Tidioute with a 23 while Ryan Williams and Hallie Cass were close behind with 22.

Hunter Wolcott hit all 25 to lead Eisenhower past Sheffield, 164-161. Jeremy Carlson was second for Ike with his 24 while Nate Benson and Emily Grove each shot 24s to lead Sheffield. Grove's score made her Week 7's high lady.

In a 163-156 win over Warren White, Youngsville's Christian Blick, Michael Henry and Cody Haight all finished at 24. Justin Conarro shot a 24 for White while Andrew Egger and Nick Willetts each shot 23.

The other two perfect scores came from Logan Muir and Brady Bowen as part of Corry's bye week total of 167. Tagen Dingfelder and Matt Brundage added 24s.

Tuesday's JV action saw Eisenhower beat Sheffield 147-136, Warren Blue top Tidioute 142-102, Youngsville edge Warren White 138-136 and Corry shoot a 128. Eisenhower's Hunter Trawick and Warren Blue's John Fankhouser both finished at 23 to lead the individual JV scores.
